5. Safeway Signature Select Marinara Sauce

“I think Safeway’s jarred marinara sauce is as good, if not better, than any name-brand sauce I’ve tried (and it’s cheaper). Not only is it perfect on any pasta, but it’s also a great foundation for more complex pasta sauces. I also use it in soups and it’s terrific for making braised brisket. I always have a jar of it in my pantry.” — Mark Ellman, chef and owner of Honu Seafood & Pizza and Frida’s Mexican Beach House in Maui
